CHÂTEAU COPSA

Château Copsa's architecture and layout follow the canon of the early Middle Ages castles - an impressive stone building on an elevation, with habitable oval towers at the four ends of the main building.

The project was designed by the famous Bulgarian architect Zheko Tilev. The sophisticated interior contrasts sharply with the rough stone façade.

Sense of eternity - designer crystal chandeliers from Murano, Florentine plush and silk, antique decorations, solid oak furniture, green and black marble from Zimbabwe, Egyptian cotton bedding, and most important of all - the spirit of the Minkov family.

It is our team's pleasure to present our wines and technology to you in the form of different wine tastings. Our guests who would like to deepen their knowledge of the wine making process could make a reservation in advance and meet with our experienced oenologists.

THE PROCESS OF WINEMAKING

Each bunch of grapes, used for making our wines, is hand-picked at dawn. The bunches of grapes are collected in wooden crates to prevent them from crushing. Sorting the grapes starts at the vineyard by removing rotten fruit, dry leaves and twigs.

It takes less than 30 minutes for the grapes to reach our winery and this guarantee preserving the freshness and the quality characteristics of the raw material used for our wine. The Copsa winery is situated at the foot of Sredna Gora where the natural climatic conditions facilitate the grape cooling and contribute to the fermentation process itself.

The winery capacity is 320,000 litres in stainless steel vessels with temperature control. For the processes of malolactic fermentation, if required, and ageing we use French and American oak barrels with varying degrees of barrel toasting.

All laboratory analyses are carried out in our own laboratory by our oenologist Madlen Kuzmanova.

Our bottling line is Italian and it allows us to use screw caps for the fresh white wines and rosé, and cork for the wines that will age in bottles.

Château Copsa

We, the Minkov family, strongly believe that making good wine is an art, especially when part of this wine are the sweet juices of thousands of years of history. Blossomed in the very heart of the Rose Valley, our Château Copsa draws its knowledge and inspiration from the lands of the ancient Thracians, famous for their excellent wine. They believed in its divine origin and would celebrate the power of the elixir with mystical rituals and wild feasts in honour of god Dionysus. Meanwhile they turned into one of the best winemakers in Europe and their inheritance has been preserved through the centuries until today.

Empowered by this rich past, today we combine the ancient legends and traditions with the latest technologies so that we can make our own wine under the brand Château Copsa. Ivan Didov Minkov was the man who passed down to our family the love for wine and his experience as a skilled winemaker and a long-time manager of the Rose Valley Winery.

Following in his father's footsteps, Minko Minkov founded the winery in 1998. He called it Copsa - the Thracian name of one of the ancient settlements, predecessors of the town of Karlovo, where we can trace back our family roots to. Minko Minkov began buying up old vineyards with Misket from the region of Karlovo as well as empty plots of land so he could plant them with new grape varieties. He always follows the rule that fine wine is only made when the grapevines are grown as our own children - with much affection, patience and dedication. He chooses the best terroir for his offspring. The unique character of the Rose Valley infuses the fresh bouquet of Copsa with the warmth of the southern sun, the sweet smell of roses, lavender and aromatic herbs, along with the cool breeze of the Balkan Mountains. And now the third generation of the Minkov family - Petia and Ivan, continue with passion and innovative spirit to develop the family business and to create modern wines intertwined with the Valley history.

Château Copsa is one of the few family wineries where we take the control of the whole process of making the wine - from the grapes to its bottling - into our own hands. This allows us to monitor every stage of its development and make sure it lives and reveals its even more interesting and deep character notes, even when bottled. That is why in 2005 we built a modern winemaking base with its own laboratory in the town of Klisura, situated only a few kilometres from our vineyards. And in order to ensure the proper storage of our products, in 2008 we built the majestic castle Château Copsa. Built according to the medieval architecture canons, we situated our cellar in its stone foundations and there our best selections mature in French, American and Bulgarian oak barrels.

Since then, Château Copsa is a place where we welcome and share our wine with our friends and guests. And since their number is constantly growing, in 2017 we added Maison Copsa, a boutique art hotel and restaurant. We transformed them into an alternative and discreet oasis for urban people, where among the beauty of the Rose Valley they can indulge in the slow rhythm of the château and forget about the outside world beyond its borders...Here they can spend their time in contemplation, dreams, sweet conversations with friends under the stars of the night sky or in plans for more small escapes. Of course, in the fresh and compelling company of Château Copsa's wine.

So if you are looking for a different and beautiful place to slow down the pace of your days with fine wine, delicious food and caring hosts, the doors of Château Copsa are open to you.

Become part of our club - "Friends of Copsa".

OUR VINEYARDS

Château Copsa owns 50 hectares of vineyards, located in the very heart of the Rose Valley. This wine microregion, tucked away between the southern slope of the Balkan Mountains and Sredna Gora, is extremely suitable for cultivating high quality white grape varieties. The unsurpassed fragrance of the rose and lavender fields, the constant movement of air masses, the mild climate due to the two mountains surrounding the valley, all this contribute to the unique terroir of the region. The predominant soil is cinnamon-forest soil mixed with limestone and rubble on the surface, which acts as a natural drainage. The annual rainfall is significantly higher than the average for Bulgaria, which ensures constant soil moisture throughout the year. In addition, the naturally cold mountain air of the region helps cool off the fruit and reach a high concentration of flavours.

The Rose Valley region is exceptionally favourable for growing white grape varieties - the emblematic local Red Misket, Muscat Ottonel, Chardonnay, and Sauvignon Blanc, which make up 80% of our vineyards. The red grape varieties we grow are Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot. Due to the cooler mountain climate they ripen significantly later and carry their unique terroir characteristics, which make them special.

The grape yield is controlled by pruning the vines and green harvesting in August before the grape has reached its peak of ripeness in order to reduce the yield at the expense of its qualitative characteristics. The average yield per decare is 600 kg. Each bunch of grapes, used for making our wines, is hand-picked at dawn in order to keep it undamaged and preserve its intense aroma.

MISSION

Our long term purpose is to provide not only the best possible personal treatment, and a full set of professional hotel services for each of our guests, but to also develop and promote a remarkable part of our 'Vitosha' park in a modern and unique way. As you are probably aware, there isn't a single other European capital to have a peak nearby higher than 2000 m. We hope that in the future we will have more opportunities to invest in the infrastructure and maintenance of our beautiful park as well as in various non-profit organizations that will help more people enjoy the unique nature close to our hotel. So far, our hotel is provided with solar panels, a heat pump and LED lighting, which help bring down the costs of electrical energy and nature's non-renewable resources. Our wish for the upcoming years is to integrate more powers based on renewable energy sources with which we aim to give our guests modern amenities hand in hand with care for nature and energy efficiency. Our message to you: Keep calm and love nature!

TESTIMONIAL

“ Super friendly staff, really quiet and unique location within the nature park, great start for mountain hikes in Vitosha. ”
